Offering users a convenient way to protect equipment surfaces and the environment, Chadd Padd fuel bibs quickly absorb diesel, gasoline and oil spills at their source. As a multi-purpose spill response solution, these reusable mats catch and contain fuel before it becomes a problem.

Ideal for industrial, construction and agriculture applications, the effective Chadd Padd mats are made out of the same material necessary for Spill Prevention, Control and Countermeasure requirements. Offered in two sizes, the 10"x10" can hold up to 4.5 oz. of petroleum products and comes in rolls of 36 or 6-packs, while the 15"x20" can absorb up to 11 oz. and is available in boxes of 18.

Anti-static treated, the Chadd Padd is made from clean, soft and absorbent polymers. It can be used multiple times for a variety of applications, such as a drip mat or when working with hydraulic fluid. It's even disposable, in accordance with applicable regulations.
